

James Ryan – Internal Financial Consultant, Cornmarket

What do you enjoy about working in Cornmarket?

Having worked in two separate departments within the company so far, I would say that one of the things I enjoy most about Cornmarket is the people. Be it colleagues, management or members of other departments you bump into around the building, everyone is friendly, approachable and extremely supportive.

Professional development is another thing about working in Cornmarket that really appeals to me. They have supported me through numerous exams giving me the opportunity to not only obtain professional qualifications, but to use these qualifications to progress my career within the company.

What does your typical day look like?

Every day is similar in structure, but I wouldn't say that there is a 'typical day' as such. I deal with clients of all ages, backgrounds and nationalities, each with very different financial needs. As a result, no two days are ever the same.

As an internal Financial Consultant, we advise across a number of different products, adding a lot of variety into daily on goings.

What are you most looking forward to in the year ahead in Cornmarket?

This coming year, I'm looking forward to hopefully becoming a Qualified Financial Adviser and seeing what else Cornmarket has to offer in terms of further development.

Aside from that, I think everyone in Cornmarket will agree that the Christmas party is worth looking forward to each year.
